grain stone

Our full grain stone tiles are textured products ideal for exterior surfaces and beyond. They're also perfect for creative professionals and homeowners looking to add textured accents to their interiors.

With such a unique product, the possibilities are endless. When designing a layout, an expert interior designer will consider color, light, scale, and texture. An unusually textured wall or flooring is sure to transform any interior into a remarkable and innovative space.

The Full Grained Stone Collection includes both marble and limestone, two of the most popular natural stones in the world. We believe that offering such an inventive collection places us in a unique and advantageous position over other natural stone producers.
